

Pure white.
Sophisticated grey.
Timeless elegance
with a modern twist.

White

is the best colour of all, according to American star architect Richard Meier. Symbolising perfection, purity, clarity. It is reminiscent of new beginnings, but also makes us think of elegance and serenity. Like a white canvas it gives us the freedom to start afresh.

In its puristic neutrality, white is not only the perfect candidate for suspense-laden contrasts. With its formal clarity, it can just as convincingly enter into a harmonious symbiosis with the cool aesthetics and timeless quality of sophisticated grey.

Grey

is the colour of intellect, of knowledge and wisdom. For interior design all over the world, it is the epitome of elegance. For Odilon Redon, one of the major pioneers of classical modernism, mystic dark grey is actually the soul of the colour spectrum. Without grey, creative expression would lack depth, calm and clarity.

In the luxurious ambience of a stylish kitchen, where open grey cabinets form a harmonious whole in a perfect fusion of interior and exterior, this is particularly conspicuous.

In their puristic elegance, grey and white allow the aesthetic and functional benefits of the corpus to take centre stage. Design language at its highest level, which can be adapted repeatedly to the zeitgeist and changing personal preferences by recombining individual elements time and again. In perfect quality, and throughout the lifespan of the kitchen.

This recombination is facilitated by the patented SieMatic multi-function tracking system, arranged in a fine 16 mm grid. While integral to the corpus of SieMatic cabinets, it is also available for the doors.

Inside, the multiple design award winning and highly flexible MultiMatic system translates the exclusive interior design philosophy for drawers and pull-outs to tall, wall and base cabinets with unfailing consistency.

SieMatic interior fittings. Linking external and internal values in perfect harmony.

Four appealing design options: the grey corpus, optionally in the aluminium edition, or the white corpus, optionally in the aluminium edition.

Efficiency could not be more beautiful.

The patented SieMatic multi-function tracking system with its fine 16 mm grid provides the corpus and doors with a highly flexible interior. From the arrangement of the shelves to the installation of elegant MultiMatic elements, this system with its intelligent fixtures and fittings and its efficient use of space can offer up to 30% more storage.

Functionality down to the very last detail: the rows of holes are closed, protecting them from dust and moisture.

The very robust shelf and element supports are fixed into place simply and securely with a 90° turn.

The warm and appealing light oak combination and its superior interior in pure white or sophisticated grey are equally immaculate.

What the grey and white options have in common: their wide range of individual variants and the ease with which they can both be planned.

Unique: aluminium in combination with dark smoked chestnut or light oak.

With its innovative functionality and precisely finished detailing, the unique combination of aluminium and smoked chestnut or light oak is an aesthetic delight. The highly flexible interior system can be changed time and again, providing the highest degree of individuality.

The king-size compartment for drawers with a width of at least 60 cm is so deep that even high objects have ample storage space. A clever solution which in this variation is only available from SieMatic.

Immaculate: natural wood or superior synthetic.

The GripDeck inserts are optionally available in matching or contrasting colours.

We take the concept of kitchen design further. Much further.

We have always been committed to safeguarding the future of our environment and that of future generations. With our high quality standards, we make an important contribution to sustainability. And take resource conservation to the next level.

Every SieMatic kitchen which leaves our factory is built to last for decades. This is true not only in general, in the timeless design of our kitchens, but also in our attention to detail. We are so proud of some seemingly negligible trifles that they are known internally as our "silent heroes".

Our patented SieMatic multi-function tracking system, for example, facilitates interior fixtures and fittings which are innovative and highly flexible in equal measure. Or our fascinating Flock2Block system with its flocked mat inserts which stop porcelain elements, also with flocked bases, from moving around. Or our visually attractive GripDeck with its rubber strips, preventing even heavy pots and pans from sliding.

Some of our details are tiny, such as the almost invisible pieces of silicone which enable dust and dirt to be removed hygienically from even the most inaccessible of corners. These are precisely the small but significant differences demonstrating just how consistently we push the concept of kitchen design as far as it can go.

The following accessories are just a few examples of the superior features which SieMatic customers can expect to find when consulting a SieMatic dealership in their vicinity.
